DESCRIPTION

The inspiration for our Curb coffee table comes from the urban environment: from the street, the concrete and all the poetry you find there if you just look from a different angle. The same goes for this concrete table. At first glance, it's Brutalist. But take a look around and the details start to emerge. Several styles and time periods converge. The table's overall shape is inspired by Modernism. The decorative bas-relief frieze picks up on the designs of the Bauhaus school.

DESIGNER

“Between art and design, there is only one step.”
According to Bertrand Jayr, there is a transversality linking these disciplines that are both distinct and related. It is precisely by transgressing its own limits that Art constantly redefines itself. This is how this artist and designer from Lyon considers these two practices simultaneously. An innovative and meaningful design, reconciling creativity and use.
